

IIT-I joins hands with Taiwan varsity for research programme

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Indore: The Indian Institute of Technology, Indore, (IIT-I) has signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with a university in Taiwan to collaborate on research programmes and exchange of students and faculty.

IIT-I has inked the MoU with the National Ilan University (NIU) Taiwan. The institute said the collaboration will help to achieve excellence in teaching and research and to foster productive industry-academic cooperation.

The MoU was signed in presence of the IIT-I director professor Suhas S Joshi and NIU Taiwan president professor Po-Ching Wu.

A delegation from IIT visited several universities in Taiwan to explore the possibilities of academic partnership with top-tier Taiwanese universities.

On the occasion, professor Joshi briefed about the academic programmes, research areas, facilities and vision for the internationalization of IIT-I.

Apprising the delegation of academic programmes run in NIU, professor Wu highlighted the opportunities for bilateral cooperation between IIT-I and NIU-Taiwan.

EXCHANGE PROG TOO

A delegation of faculty from IIT led by the director professor Joshi visited and met faculties of many universities in Taiwan including the National Taiwan University (NTU), National Yang Ming Chiao Tung University (NYCU), National Taipei University of Technology (Taipei Tech), National Tsing Hua University (NTHU), National Ilan University (NIU), Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC), Powerchip Semiconductor Manufacturing Corp. (PSMC), Hsinchu Science Park and Biomedical Science Park.