Fluxus, the annual techno-cultural festival of Indian Institute of Technology Indore, will be held from February 7-9. This year's theme is - climate change. The event will see more than 30 technical and cultural competitions.

From projects of ISRO, DRDO, Wingfotech, Indro 3.0 (Robot) in technical exhibition to a 'stimulating Startup Expo and neck-high competitions like Obsta-Course, Robo Soccer, Marg-Darshak, RoboWars, Nitro Thrust, Manthan, Strategy AI and CADathon will examine technical sides of students.

The organisers claimed that cultural events like fashion show, music, dance and drama will be organised on a more grand scale this year. Zakir Khan, Salim Sulie-man, DJ Shaan and Yellow Diary Band would be performing in cultural events.

A series of talks that include Words of Wisdom and Tech-Talks including talk from Shankar Venu-gopal and Anil Swarup will be part of this year's Fluxus.

"The event will spread message of ill effects of climate change and how each one of us can contribute in handling precarious situation," said IIT Indore media coordinator Sunil Kumar.
