INDORE: Registration and orientation programme for the 2010 batch of the Indian Institute of technology, Indore (IIT-I) were conducted on Friday. The classes for the new batch will start from July 26.

The orientation programme started with a welcome address by director Prof Pradeep Mathur. He said IIT Indore, though a new institute, would maintain the high standards of IITs in academics and research. The institute also looks forward to reach new heights in research, he added.

Mathur spoke about the modern academic facilities available at the institute that include a virtual classroom, modern teaching facilities, computer centre, a library and also undergraduate physics and chemistry laboratories.
