

Booksville '12 begins at IIT-I

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Indore: Booksville 2012 – a book exhibition organized by the Central Library of IIT-Indore -- started on Wednesday at PACL Campus here.

IIT-I director Pradeep Mathur inaugurated the exhibition which is on till February 10. Deputy librarian Anjali Bandiwadekar said reputed publishers including Wiley, Elsevier, Springer, Taylor & Francis, Orient Blackswan, Palgrave Macmillan, Oxford University Press, Prentice hall of India, Peri etc are the main attractions of the exhibition.

She informed that wide range of subjects from the engineering discipline including engineering, electrical and mechanical engineering, basic sciences along with literature, fiction, psychology, philosophy, economics and general interest have been covered.

The exhibition is also open for all students and faculty members of other educational institutes between 3 and 6 pm.