

IIT-I Fluxus from today

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Indore: A three-day annual techno-cultural festival of Indian Institute of Technology, Indore (IIT-I) – Fluxus 2014 – will begin on Friday at IET and PACL campus both.

The first day will witness grand fashion show and dance competition choreographed by professional models.

The event will also comprise technical and cultural events. The technical events are conceptualized on various disciplines like robotics, mechanical and civil modelling, electronics and electrical design and computer science. Jam Fest, dance competitions, voice of fluxus will be key event at IET campus while a plethora of technical events will be organized at PACL campus of IIT-I.

Theatre along with an essay-writing event for students would also be a part of the event. Some of the informal events on board are wheel of fortune, rifle shooting, coconut bowling, throw a ring and crime scene investigation.