

Lecture on visionary leadership at IIT-Indore

Indore: To inculcate qualities of leadership and governance among students, a lecture on 'visionary leadership: lessons from Mahabharata' was organized at Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Indore, on Wednesday. Prof Himanshu Rai of SDA Bocconi School of Management, Milan, and dean of MISB Bocconi, Mumbai, said, "Vedic literature is the best way for business managers world over to reflect socio-politico-economic conflicts and other problems of country."

"A differentiation must be made between morality and ethics. Morality helps us separate good from bad, which is vital for upbringing, while ethics help us separate right from wrong in context of situations," said Rai. TNN