

Last word

Indoreans run to save environment

● OUR STAFF REPORTER
INDORE

Hundreds of residents from all age groups and different walks of life took part in a marathon organised by the students of Indian Institute of Technology, Indore on Sunday.

The theme of the marathon was 'Save the Environment'.

The venue, Dussehra Maidan was buzzing with energy when the director of IIT Indore, Prof Pradeep Mathur flagged off the marathon held in five different categories.

The starting and finishing points were the same.

The winners were later felicitated in the prize distribution ceremony and all the participants were given 'participation certificates'.

The marathon was a part of Fluxus-2016, annual Techno-Cultural Festival of IIT Indore.

"As many as 800 people had registered for the marathon conducted to create a general awareness for environment protection," said IIT Indore student Gaurav Karmakar.

Students of IIT Indore shows a banner of marathon ahead of the event on Sunday. FP PHOTO