

IIM-Indore to host second summit on start-up culture

HT Correspondent

* editorbhopal@hindustantimes.com

INDORE: Students of two national institutes based in Indore – Indian Institute of Technology and Indian Institute of Management – will take part in the second season of i5summit to be held from August 20 to strengthen start-up culture on campus.

The IIM-Indore, will host the two-day entrepreneurial carnival where the students will have sessions with mentors and successful entrepreneurs of start-ups.

The last year's event saw stalwarts from the world of start-ups such as Freecharge co-founder Kunal Shah, OYO Rooms founder Ritesh Agrawal and Greg Moran of Zoomcar took part in the seminar.

This year, Jugnoo founder and chief executive officer (CEO) Samar Singla, Tinder India head operations Taru Kapoor, NYKAA chief executive officer Falguni Nayar and Mobikwik chief executive officer Bipin Preet Singh will attend the summit.

“Get funded”, the flagship of the i5summit, will also be organised where teams from across the country will pitch their ideas before the venture capitalists.